MMTC March 7 to Focus on Community Planning and Redistricting Impacts, 7pm via Zoom

By Pam Stevens

What future development is being discussed for Mira Mesa, according to the Mira Mesa Community Plan Update now underway? What changes has the 2022 Redistricting made in district boundaries for the elected officials who represent Mira Mesa at various levels – city, county, state, and federal? Find out at the March meeting of the Mira Mesa Town Council, and meet Diane Ahern, president of the University City Community Association, to find out more about our neighboring community to the west, University City, now joining Mira Mesa in City Council District 6. The meeting will take place Monday, March 7, 2022, 7pm via Zoom. Public welcome! Link posted at www.miramesatowncouncil.org. Main program:
*What Are Mira Mesa's New Districts for Elected Officials? – Bari Vaz, MMTC President
*Mira Mesa Community Plan Update – Jeff Stevens, MMCPG Chair
*Hi, Neighbor!" Meet University City – Diane Ahern, UCCA President

President's Message: Be The Change You Want To See In Mira Mesa

I have always loved this quote, attributed to Mahatma Gandhi. And while the quote is not exactly what he said – his actual quote is longer and more elegant – the meaning is there. This week presented another example of what we can accomplish if our community is united and speaks up for what is important. Late last week, we posted on Facebook and Nextdoor about the vote occurring on Tuesday, March 1, to put forward the Capital Budget for County projects in FY22-23. As you may recall, last year the County of San Diego approved a large budget item ($3.65 million dollars) to fund the engineering study and renovations to reopen the Mira Mesa Epicentre as a Teen and Community Center. The Epicentre is the origina- Mira Mesa Library. Once the new library on New Salem was opened, the building was converted to a Teen Center. Everyone in Mira Mesa seems to have fond memories of the building, and of the concerts that took place. (Anyone remember the MySpace Secret Show at the Epicentre on May 13, 2007? Can you believe that Maroon 5 appeared? I have a poster from the event!) The County has completed the engineering study, and the results were grim. Not only would the over $3 million re- maining in the allocation be required, but an additional $4.35 million would be required! And while that seems like a lot of money to spend on the renovation, the cost to demolish and rebuild a similar-sized building would be even larger.
Our County Supervisor, Terra Lawson-Remer, sees the value to our community of this project and the programs it will bring for our youth, and is advocating for the additional funding. (continued on page 2)

The Mira Mesa Town Council is a 501(c)(4) non-profit organized to foster the public welfare of the community. Meetings are held on the first Monday of every month at 7pm. See page 12 for newsletter advertising rates and contact info.

We the residents, and organizations, just had to demonstrate our support. And THANK YOU! You did turn out, both in eComments and by telephone. And while the Epicenter is still not included in the first draft of the budget, to be reviewed next month, it is at the top of the list for a "change letter" to be applied to the budget once anticipated FEMA reimbursement funding is received later in March. The Epicentre should be included in the FY22-23 budget that the County votes on in April. THIS is how we will accomplish the changes needed in Mira Mesa. I continue to receive emails from residents regarding the issues most concerning in their mind: homelessness, crime, and our roads. And while the programs and funding to address these issues are held at the City, County, State, and Federal level, it is only though advocating for ourselves that those programs and funds will be directed to Mira Mesa. As I write this message, I have a scheduled meeting with representatives from the City Council office, the Mayor's office, the County Supervisor's office, the City's the Director of Homelessness Strategies and Solutions, SDPD's Homeless Outreach Team, and PATH (the non-profit working with the City on homelessness issues) to discuss the scope of Mira Mesa's issues with homelessness and form a Task Force to address it. I will be looking to interested Mira Mesa residents to participate and find ways to address the problem. Months ago, we put out a call for those interested in forming a Neighborhood Watch oversite group, which would unite the small and scattered Neighborhood Watch programs currently established in Mira Mesa into a larger organization that could coordinate with SDPD and each other to reduce our crime rate. I have personally been involved in such a program, and the impact reduced our insurance rates by lowering crime rates – especially theft. I received an underwhelming two inquiries, neither of which followed through. As we saw with the Epicentre vote, if we unite and speak up, we can accomplish much. Think about how much more we can accomplish if we commit this same energy to other issues in Mira Mesa. I will be putting out the call this month for both our Homelessness Task Force and our Neighborhood Watch group. Next month, we will work on our Streets and Infrastructure committee.

Last month I asked you to consider committing one hour a week to improving Mira Mesa. This month, I will give you the opportunity to use that one hour on any one of a variety of projects. And if you can commit more than one hour, we can accomplish even more.

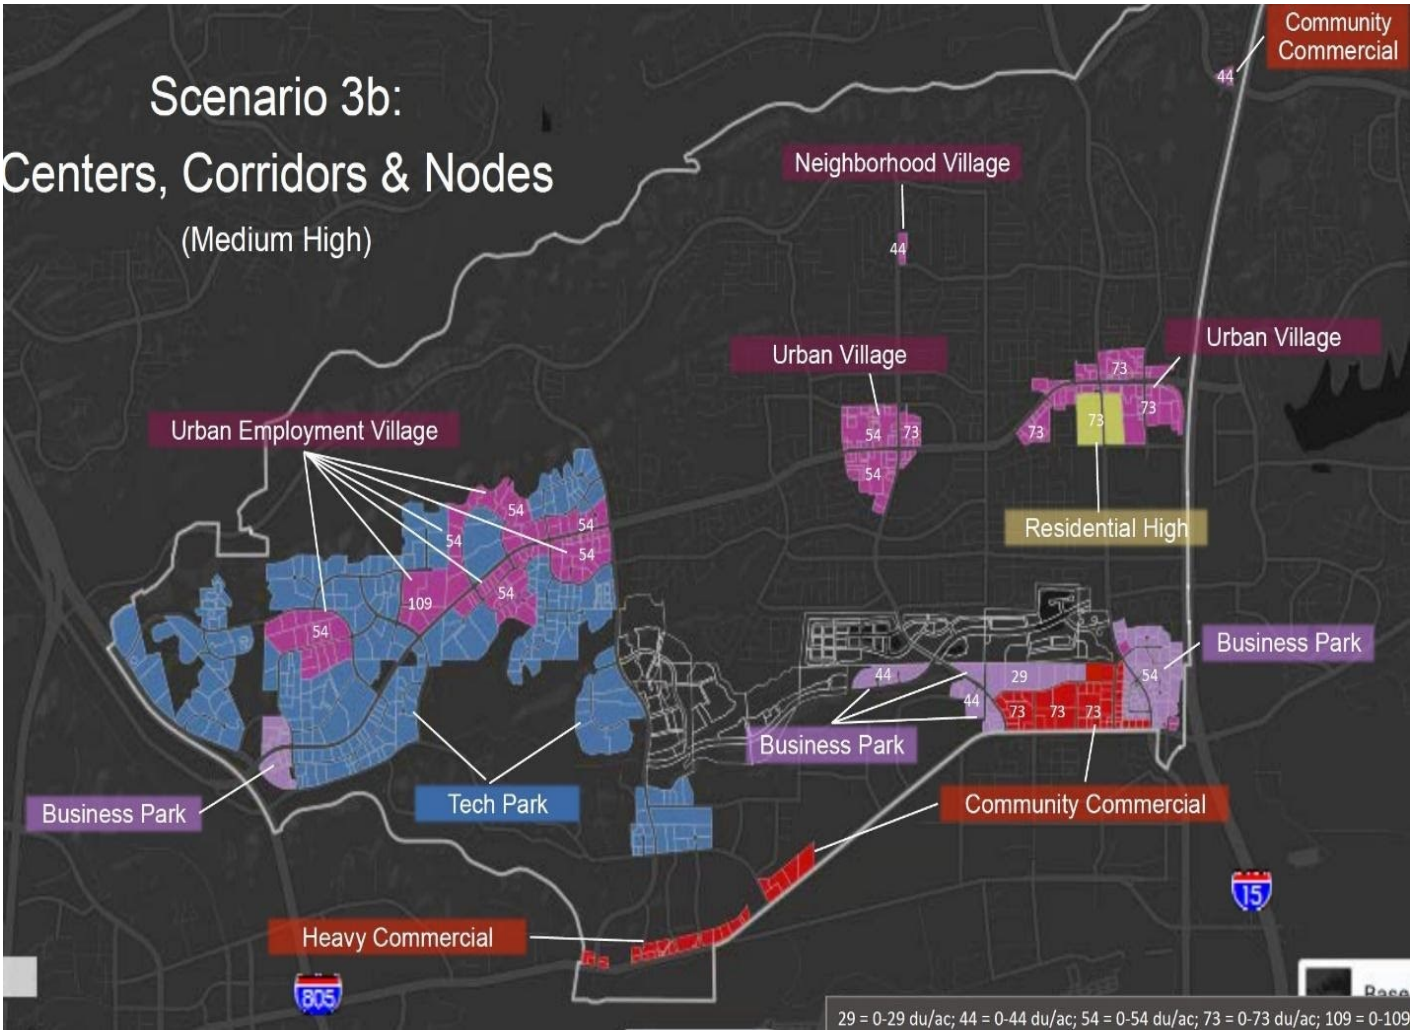
Mira Mesa Community Plan Update in Progress January 17, 2022

By Jeff Stevens

The Mira Mesa Community Plan was last updated in 1992. Since then, the community has developed in accordance with the Community Plan and Mira Mesa today is very close to what was envisioned in 1992. The City, landowners, developers and the Mira Mesa Community Planning Group all worked together to ensure that developers and landowners would build according to the plan, and that public facilities and infrastructure would be built together with the development, paid for with developer fees through the Mira Mesa Facilities Benefit Assessment (FBA).

We are now going through a new Community Plan update, but the approach is very different. In March, 2019 the City received a grant from the State of California for $625,000 in which they committed to adding 10,000 to 20,000 new housing units to the Mira Mesa Community Plan. This was derived from the 2016 SANDAG Smart Growth Concept Map which identified the commercial areas along Mira Mesa Blvd as "Smart Growth Opportunity Areas." The idea is to add high density residential development to commercial areas located near public transit. The City extended this idea to include development in industrial areas such as Sorrento Mesa. The City is currently recommending the "Scenario 3b" proposal shown in the figure below, which would add 24,000 units to the Community Plan. Density proposals range from 54 units per acre to 109 units per acre. For comparison, the Casa Mira View apartments which are currently the highest density in the Mira Mesa Community are 42 units per acre. If fully developed, this would increase the population of Mira Mesa from the current 75,000 to 167,000.



Mira Mesa Community Plan Update in Progress January 17, 2022 (continued)

There are a number of problems with this proposal. First, placing high density housing along transit corridors anticipates current and future residents using public transit much more than today, but transit is currently very limited, and connectivity to locations outside of Mira Mesa in a reasonable amount of time is very poor. Furthermore, even the City's projections show only 4% of trips will be made by public transit under scenario 3b. Second, as yet no significant infrastructure improvements have been proposed to support the increased population. During the previous plan update, City park acreage standards were used to determine the amount of parkland needed in the Community and several new parks were added. Under the recently adopted "Parks Master Plan" the City repealed the park acreage standards. The City has also terminated the FBA programs, which removes the primary funding mechanism that we previously had for infrastructure. Third, adding residential to Sorrento Mesa is problematic because having been planned as strictly industrial, it includes no schools or parks and very limited commercial to support residents.

The Mira Mesa Community Plan Update subcommittee meets immediately prior to the monthly meeting of the Mira Mesa Community Planning Group. The public is welcome to attend and participate in discussions. See https://www.miramesatowncouncil.org/mira-mesa-community-planning-group/ for more information.

D6 City Council Candidate Forum April 26 via Zoom at 6pm

Mira Mesans are encouraged to attend the District 6 San Diego City Council Candidate Forum April 26, 6pm to 7:30pm via Zoom, organized by the University City Community Association in partnership with the League of Women Voters of San Diego and with other community associations in District 6. What is Going on in Carroll Canyon?

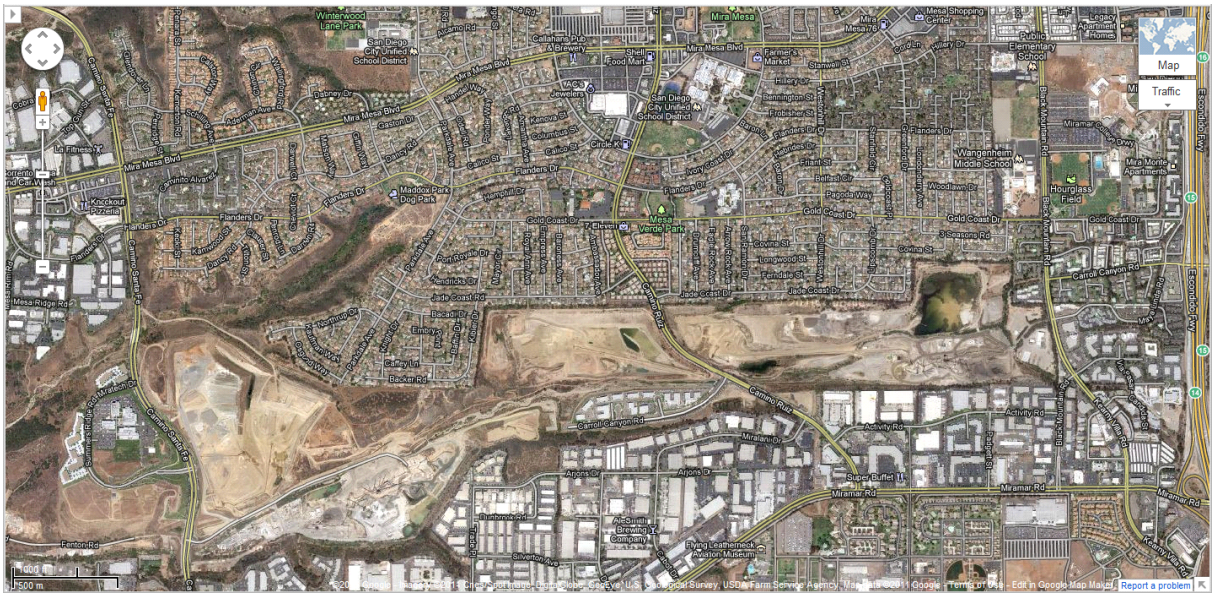
Jeff Stevens, Chair, Mira Mesa Community Planning Group
February 28, 2022

Mira Mesa residents have noticed the construction going on in Carroll Canyon just east of Camino Santa Fe. What is this and where did it come from?

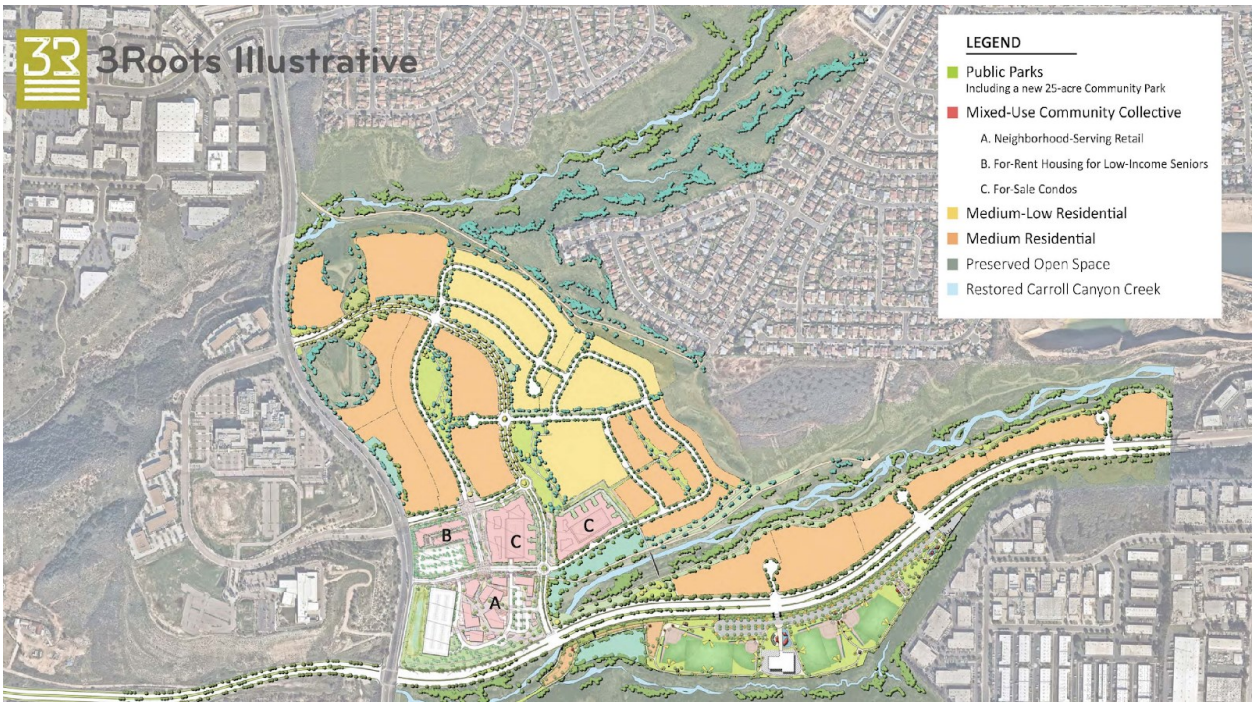
Now called the "3Roots" development, this project was first approved as the "Carroll Canyon Master Plan" in 1994. The property was owned by Fenton, which at the time was actively mining the area for gravel. Fenton built the first part of the plan, the industrial area on the west side of Camino Santa Fe, and they built Camino Santa Fe between Flanders and Trade street, connecting Mira Mesa Blvd to Miramar Road. Fenton then sold the rest of the property to Hanson Aggregates who continued mining east of Camino Santa Fe until about 2015.



Hanson sold the property to Mesa Canyon Community Partners, a consortium made up of developers Lennar, Shea Homes and California West, and they redesigned the project and named it "3Roots". Both the new and old plans contained 1800 housing units, but the new design is substantially improved and includes a new 25 acre public Community Park (see figure below). The northern part of the project is under construction now. The southern part, which will begin construction in about another year, contains most of the denser multifamily housing, including 180 units of low income housing, a commercial area, a wide greenbelt along Carroll Creek, and the community park. It will also build the section of Carroll Canyon Road from Camino Santa Fe to Camino Ruiz.

What is Going on in Carroll Canyon continued…

The section of Carroll Canyon Road to the west which passes through El Camino Memorial Park will be built by the City using developer fees. Once that section is finished, Carroll Canyon Road will be complete from I-805 to Camino Ruiz.



Vulcan's property east of 3Roots and extending all the way to Black Mountain Road, will be developed as a larger project containing 4450 housing units together with some commercial and industrial areas. That project will complete the section of Carroll Canyon Road between Camino Ruiz and I-15, which completes the route from I-805 to I-15. Vulcan is still actively mining, so this project will not start for another decade or so.

San Diego County Supervisors Urged to Allocate Funds to Revive Epicentre Teen Center by Pam Stevens

Mira Mesans and others concerned about the future of the Epicentre teen center in Mira Mesa emailed and/or spoke by phone at the San Diego County Board of Supervisors meeting on Monday, February 28, urging the Board of Supervisors to allocate the additional $4.35 million needed to renovate the building during the upcoming FY 2022-23 fiscal year. Last year the County Board of Supervisors approved funding of $3.65 million to restore the Epicentre, a hub of the community from 1999 to 2016, vacant and in disrepair now for over 6 years. This year it was determined an additional $4.35 million is needed to bring the building up to code and re-open it. Epicentre restoration was on a preliminary list of priority capital projects up for discussion and approval by the Board of Supervisors at the February 28 meeting. The Board of Supervisors unanimously voted in favor of the list of projects, which includes the Epicentre but with funding delayed a year to FY 2023-24. However, final budget decisions are still to be made. County Supervisor Terra Lawson-Remer, who has said "a revitalized Epicentre is a critical need for our neighbors," asked County staff if it would be possible to allocate the funding needed for the Epicentre restoration before the final County budget for the upcoming fiscal year is approved in June. Lawson-Remer said she anticipates the County will be receiving money from a FEMA reimbursement fund, which could be a source for the additional funding needed. County staff replied it would be possible to make an additional allocation via a change letter to the budget documents. For more information and updates, contact San Diego County Supervisor Terra Lawson-Remer and/or her Mira Mesa representative, Amanda Berry, at 619-531-5133. Mailing address: S.D. County Administration Center 1600 Pacific Highway, Room 335, San Diego, CA 92101. Email: terra.lawsonremer@sdcounty.ca.gov.
