MMTC Meeting

January 8, 2024
Mira Mesa Library
7pm-9pm

January, 2024 Meeting

City Councilman Kent Lee will be our featured speaker at the January 2024 Mira Mesa Town Council meeting. The meeting will be held in the Mira Mesa Library at 7 PM on January 8th (second Monday of the month since the first Monday is New Year's holiday).

Councilman Lee will swear in the new MMTC Board of Directors and will give a summary of the status and plans for Council District 6. MMTC members will also vote on bylaws changes recommended by the bylaws subcommittee.

New Year, New Laws

The start of a new year also brings with it new laws that took effect on January 1, 2024. Among these changes are:

- Minimum wage is going up across the country, and in San Diego, the minimum wage is now $16.85 cents per hour.
- Marijuana Drug Tests - Another new highly talked about law is AB 2118. It prevents most employers from punishing workers for failing a marijuana drug test.
- Paid Sick Leave - SB 616 guarantees California workers now have a minimum of five sick days for the year instead of three. This only applies to people that have been with a the company for at least 200 days, or for about seven months.
- California has expanded its recycling refund program to include glass wine and liquor bottles, large plastic juice bottles, and even boxed wine containers and alcoholic beverage pouches. CRV will be collected on bottles even if they do not have the "CRV" redemption logo on the label, and can be redeemed even without the CRV logo.

The Mira Mesa Town Council is a 501(c)(4) non-profit organized to foster the public welfare of the community. Meetings are held on the first Monday of every month at 7pm. Website: www.miramesatowncouncil.org.

Mira Mesa Town Council Bylaws Update

The Mira Mesa Town Council bylaws require that the bylaws be reviewed and updated periodically to ensure that they stay current and to make any changes that have become necessary since the previous bylaws review. A committee chaired by Parliamentarian Eric Kolbeck was formed to review the bylaws and has suggested a number of changes. Most of the changes are either related to the increased use of modern technology or are clarifying language.

The main changes are:

1. Specifying that meetings may be either physical, virtual or hybrid. Currently the bylaws say that "MMTC General Membership meetings … shall be held at any public place within the geographical area known as Mira Mesa." This gives the impression that meetings must be held in person. During the pandemic, all of our meetings were virtual and we are currently doing hybrid meetings, broadcasting meetings on Facebook live. We need to update the bylaws to allow virtual or hybrid meetings.

2. Changing the newsletter editor language to allow electronic distribution of the newsletter. Currently the bylaws require mailing a hard copy newsletter to members who request it, but we are no longer producing a hard copy newsletter. Current practice is to post the newsletter on the website and email all members to let them know it is available.

3. Removing the requirement to do an annual independent financial review. This requirement dates back to a time of paper records. Currently, the Board does a review of the finances every year during development of the budget and the Board has the power to request an independent review if deemed necessary. An external annual review would be expensive if we hired an outside consultant to do the review, and we do not think it is necessary to do an external financial review on an annual basis.

Appended to the bylaws are the standing rules of all standing committees. These are not part of the bylaws, but are kept here to make them easy to find and access. During the bylaws review, the committee cleaned up the language in a number of the standing rules. We also added a set of standing rules for the Mira Mesa Business Association, a new committee for the business members of MMTC.

The procedure for amending the bylaws is specified in the bylaws: "These bylaws shall be amended by a 2/3 (two-thirds) majority vote of the regular membership present at any regular meeting of the MMTC, provided a quorum is present and that prior written notice has been given." We will be posting the proposed updated bylaws on the MMTC website and asking for a vote of the membership at the January 2024 meeting.

People Who Said No to Other Shelter Options are Saying Yes to Safe Sleeping

There are many reasons why unsheltered San Diegans are resistant to offers of shelter, but thanks to new programs, we're helping more people get off the streets and on the path to ending their homelessness.

Some have concerns about congregate settings, many struggle with mental health challenges, trauma, a lack of trust and other deep-seeded issues that prevent them from seeking help.

Understanding the myriad reasons behind choosing to remain on the street rather than accept help has guided the City as we work to continue to address homelessness in San Diego.

We've opened family and senior shelters, as well as for transitional-aged youth and other populations with specific needs. This past year, we launched Safe Sleeping sites, which offer some a simpler transition from life in street encampments into a safer and cleaner environment where they have access to services, meals and bathrooms.

Since we opened our Safe Sleeping sites last year, we've seen people who thought they'd never accept help from the City finally saying yes and enrolling in these outdoor sites. As of Wednesday, 521 people were enrolled in our Safe Sleeping program.

Once enrolled, outreach workers at our Safe Sleeping sites offer people a safe place to sleep, food, showers and a variety of services that help them work toward getting back into a home.

We have more work to do to address homelessness in San Diego, but the early success of our new Safe Sleeping program proves the value of being more creative in our approach to addressing homelessness.

Understanding the City's Shelter System

The City of San Diego has contracts with various service providers to offer shelter options to people experiencing homelessness. At our shelters, people are connected to support services and ultimately put on a path toward permanent housing.

The shelters listed below are City-funded or included as part of the City's Coordinated Intake System for shelter placements. (Note: There are additional shelters outside of this system that are operating within the City of San Diego.)

Mira Mesa Neighbors,

I hope you had a safe and fantastic New Year! Here's to a year of more connections, community accomplishments, and working together to make our corner of San Diego even better. Cheers to each one of you! This past year has been an honor, working alongside our dedicated District 6 team, to serve our community. Our office's efforts in the last year have resulted in tangible improvements: 300+ fixed streetlights, 14,000+ patched potholes, 20+ miles of road repair, and collecting 160+ tons of excess trash at no cost for D6 residents. We've also addressed 1,200+ constituent issues and attended 180+ public events to stay connected. In Mira Mesa, we are dedicated to the progression of our community projects: construction at Salk Neighborhood Park Joint Use Development is 61% complete with an anticipated estimated completion in Spring 2024; construction at Wagenheim Neighborhood Park Joint Use Facility has an estimated completion in Spring/early Summer of 2024; and the highly anticipated groundbreaking of Mira Mesa Community Park's Phase II improvements – including a new community pool, all-wheels park, and recreation center updates – is expected in 2024. Meanwhile, the long-awaited reconstruction of Gold Coast Drive, between Camino Ruiz and Thanksgiving Lane, and Parkdale Avenue, between Northup Drive and Mira Mesa Boulevard, is anticipated to be completed by early to mid-2024.

To enhance our community, we've also hosted events in Mira Mesa like Trees for Troops, affordable pet care events, curbside collections, and no-cost dumpster days. Through Jan. 23, the City of San Diego is currently hosting its annual Christmas Tree Recycling Program that converts trees into high-quality compost, wood chips and mulch products for residents and business owners to purchase year-round.

Learn more about Christmas Tree Recycling at https://www.sandiego.gov/tree-recycling.

Finally, on January 18th, 2024, our office will be hosting the Police Chief Search Town Hall for District 6 residents at Alexandria Tech Center, 9605 Scranton Rd, San Diego, CA 92121, from 6pm-7:30pm with light food and refreshments provided. We invite everyone in our community to attend and share your insights as San Diego searches for its next Chief of Police. While we are proud of our achievements, it's an understatement to say our work has just begun. As we embark on year two, we are honored to represent Mira Mesa as part of our district and are ready and excited for what lies ahead!

Supervisor Terra Lawson-Remer

Supervisor Terra Lawson-Remer, who was appointed by her colleagues as a member of the fiscal subcommittee and has been working with county staff since August 30, 2022 on recommendations for the best ways to prioritize spending an $80.6 million Evergreen Fund, has outlined five recommendations based on region wide challenges involving behavioral health, homelessness, affordable housing, climate justice and economic prosperity, which the Board has been working to address over the last three years. "Our priorities as a Board are clear and these recommendations follow through on our commitment to help homeless people suffering on our streets, expand the pipeline for more trained mental health and addiction treatment workers, and combat the rising cost of housing by building more affordable homes for working families," said Supervisor Lawson-Remer, Vice Chair of the Board of Supervisors. "Mental health, addiction, homelessness and unaffordable housing are the issues residents tell each Supervisor are important to them, and we now have the opportunity to help address their concerns using our Evergreen Fund. "We're not using the federal stimulus dollars to pay for regular expenditures like other jurisdictions. We're making smart investments in our future by creating some new, self-sustaining programs that use federal stimulus money to draw down additional state and federal funds, so we can help more San Diegans, longer," continued Supervisor Lawson-Remer. "These investments will be a gamechanger and go a long way toward us being able to address some of our region's most pressing challenges."

The five new recommendations are:
1. Support SB 43 Implementation and Address Hospital Overcrowding with Recuperative Care Homeless Beds
a. Program: Support the development of new recuperative care shelter capacity to provide critically needed step down beds to support SB-43 implementation and address hospital overcrowding for medically vulnerable homeless individuals.

2. Expand the County of San Diego's Public Behavioral Health Workforce
a. Program: To address the behavioral health workforce through investments that (1) support the training, education, recruitment and retention of public behavioral health staff, including better pay, more voice in the workplace, and tuition assistance, and (2) engage and expand the pool of organizations equipped to provide behavioral health care within the public behavioral health system, including diverse community-based organizations to participate in the provision of Medi-Cal funded behavioral health services, broadening the diversity and representation of organizations offering mental health and substance use services.

3. Support County Workforce Well-Being and Address Hiring and Retention Shortfalls in Key Positions by Investing in Wellness One-Time Payments
a. Program: Provide County workforce wellness one-time payments to address the impact of projected increases in healthcare costs, to support County employee well-being and hiring and retention goals. Program design, structure, and terms will be designed in negotiation with labor organization(s) representing County workers during the meet and confer process.
b. Prioritized, to be Finalized in February: Options for the Board to consider in the forthcoming American Rescue Plan Act update from the Chief Administrative Officer, which is anticipated to come to Board in February 2024.

4. Create County Employee Workforce Housing
a. Program: This will be the first time the County of San Diego invests in affordable housing opportunities for the County workforce. As part of this effort, staff should assess a pilot project option to develop workforce housing for County employees to support County recruitment and retention goals. Funding could support predevelopment and site acquisition activities.

5. Advance Economic Prosperity, Climate Justice, and Small Businesses by Growing the Green Economy
a. Programs: Launch two programs to accelerate economic prosperity, support small businesses, and drive inclusive regional growth in the green economy.
i. Economic Prosperity and Climate Justice Matching Flex Fund – Create a regional matching fund to provide cities, regional councils, and community partners with a source of local dollars needed to secure state and federal economic development, infrastructure, and climate justice grants.
ii. Green Jobs and Cleantech Small Business Fund – Collaborate with industry organizations and academic institutions to create a Green Jobs and Cleantech Small Business Fund to provide small business loans and technical assistance to support the growth of local small businesses in the green economy.

The Board of Supervisors directed in 2022 the establishment of an "Evergreen Fund", using a total of $80.6 million in projected remaining balances and/or the use of a lost revenue strategy employed with a portion of American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding. Rather than immediately spending these one-time revenues on one-time expenses that would permanently deplete the funds, the Board created the Evergreen Fund to prioritize investments in programs with self-sustaining revenue sources, or that draw down and leverage external matching funds. Last year, three proposals to use the available Evergreen Funds – proposed by Chairwoman Nora Vargas, Supervisor Joel Anderson and Supervisor Jim Desmond – were prioritized, approved and subtracted from the $80.6 million to deliver support services to asylum seekers ($6 million) and house homeless individuals in addiction recovery ($8 million). The five new proposals will be financially supported by the available balance.

Embracing a New Beginning

By Kaanchan S Farkiya

The start of a new year brings with it the promise of renewal, growth, and the chance to create positive changes in our lives. As the calendar turns, we are presented with a blank canvas upon which we can paint our aspirations, dreams, and goals.

The transition to a new year prompts many individuals to reflect on the events and experiences of the previous year. While it is essential to celebrate achievements, it is equally important to acknowledge and learn from challenges and setbacks. Reflection allows us to gain insights into our own strengths and weaknesses, providing a foundation for personal growth. One of the most common traditions associated with the new year is the creation of resolutions. These are commitments we make to ourselves to improve various aspects of our lives, whether they be related to health, relationships, career, or personal development. While resolutions are often criticized for their high abandonment rates, the act of setting them represents a genuine desire for positive change and personal betterment.

Let's embrace with fresh start in your everyday life and try to be a more positive thinker. Welcome new opportunities whether it's a career change, the initiation of a healthier lifestyle, or the pursuit of a long-held passion, the new year provides a symbolic platform to embark on a journey of transformation.

The new year serves as a powerful reminder that our attitudes and mindsets play a crucial role in shaping our experiences. Adopting a positive mindset allows us to approach challenges with resilience and optimism. As we leave behind the negativity of the past, we create space for hope, gratitude, and a renewed sense of purpose.

Happy New Year! I hope your December holidays were filled with joy, and that the coming year brings you nothing but the best. After all the holiday festivities and family gatherings in December, we are now getting back on track to a different kind of busy.

This week, we begin the second part of our two-year legislative session in the Capitol. It will be great to see my colleagues again as we continue working on the "two-year" bills that are still on our agenda from last year, and prepare for the introduction of new bills addressing the concerns of the nearly 40 million Californians we represent. As always, one of our top priorities will be putting together the state's budget. With revenue projections below what were anticipated, it will be another tough budget year. But thanks to responsible budgeting, the record reserves we built up and an economy that's in overall strong shape, it is a challenge we can meet and still avoid harmful "solutions" like new taxes on the middle class our cuts to vital state services. We'll continue to know more as the budget process continues and new revenues come in after the April tax deadline, and the Senate will adapt our budget proposals to address new information.

January of course brings the holiday set aside to honor Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In 2024 we are only five years away from the centennial of MLK's birth. This year also marks the 60th anniversary of MLK receiving the Nobel Peace Prize for his work in furtherance of the civil rights movement. As we take time to honor MLK this month we must recommit to his dream—keeping our "eyes on the prize" of true equality that still seems so elusive all these decades later. It is a shame there are still forces working to deny the history and the reality of structural injustices that still harm so many Americans.

January also brings to mind the anniversary of the Supreme Court decision in Roe v. Wade. On January 22, it will be 51 years since that landmark decision, which was so unconscionably overturned by the current Supreme Court. Though California voters took care to enshrine reproductive rights in our State Constitution, and voters in other states have followed suit, efforts to encroach on these rights—up to and including a possible nationwide ban—remain real threats. 2024 is a good time to remember we must remain vigilant and active if we are to protect our rights.

Later on in the newsletter there's some information about new laws that are taking effect as of today, and I'll be sure to keep you posted on the new bills I introduce this session, as well as other legislation of interest introduced by my colleagues. I'm sure the next few months will fly by like usual!

As you may have heard, my term as President pro Tem of the Senate will end in February, when I will be succeeded by Senator Mike McGuire who represents California's North Coast. Also, my term as State Senator for the 39th Senate District will come to an end in December. Serving in these roles has been an honor beyond words, and I will keep working for the people and communities I represent right up to the last minute—and beyond.

Here's to a great 2024—Let the Resolutions begin!
