Don't Forget

MMTC Meeting

April 8, 2024

MMTC Meeting

The April 2024 meeting will be held on April 8, a week later than our usual meeting date because April 1 is César Chávez day, a City holiday, so the library and all other City offices are closed.

This meeting will focus on roads in Mira Mesa, which as anyone who has driven in Mira Mesa knows, are not in good shape. What can we do about and what is currently being done about it? Come to the April 8 Mira Mesa Town Council meeting to find out.

The meeting will be held at the Mira Mesa Library, 8405 New Salem Street, San Diego, CA 92126, at 7:00 PM.

MMTC Scholarship

All graduating high school seniors who are Mira Mesa residents and have enjoyed participating in community volunteering are encouraged to apply for this year's college scholarship that MMTC awards annually based on community service.

The Mira Mesa Town Council/Verne Goodwin Scholarship Fund will award three $1000 scholarships in June. The deadline for completed application packages is April 30, 2024.

See https://www.miramesatowncouncil.org/scholarship/ for the application and for more information.

The Mira Mesa Town Council is a 501(c)(4) non-profit organized to foster the public welfare of the community. Meetings are held on the first Monday of every month at 7pm. Website: www.miramesatowncouncil.org.

Deficiencies in Mira Mesa Community Plan Need Correction

By Jeff Stevens

The Mira Mesa Community Plan was adopted by the San Diego City Council in December 2022. The Mira Mesa Community Planning Group made a set of recommendations to correct deficiencies in the Community Plan. Those deficiencies include insufficient public facilities; inconsistencies with City standards, unmitigated impacts and wishful thinking. The complete set of recommendations can be found on the Mira Mesa Community Planning Group website at this link.

None of the recommendations were incorporated into the Community Plan, and it is essential to the success of the Plan that they not be forgotten and that they be implemented over time. To that end, this is the first in a series of articles that describes the issues and recommendations for solutions. We start with the final recommendation:

> Over the past 30 years Mira Mesa has developed in accordance with a community plan that allowed us to predict the type and location of development and future population, and to site and fund facilities needed to support the new population. Consequently, the Mira Mesa Community today looks very much like the Community Plan developed 30 years ago. In contrast, the proposed Plan has a wide range of possible future population and so far no property owner or developer has committed to building the urban villages proposed in the Plan. The future population of Mira Mesa could therefore be anywhere between 90,000 and 144,000. How do we plan for this?
> We need a financing and phasing plan that will build as much of the infrastructure as possible early and plan for additional population, then phase in the rest of the improvements as the population grows.

The 1992 Mira Mesa Community Plan was very successful. It added parks, a new library and other public facilities consistent with the projected buildout population and provided a funding mechanism to build them. The population estimate proved to be quite accurate and most of the planned public facilities were built. In contrast, the 2022 Community Plan has a highly uncertain future population estimate and no funding mechanism for public facilities.

The City no longer develops or maintains public facilities financing plans for any community. All developer fees now go downtown where they are distributed with a feeding frenzy among nine City Council districts, with no requirement that the fees are used in the area where development occurred. Although the new Community Plan lists a large number of recommended parks and other public facilities, with no phasing plan, timeline or funding mechanism, it is difficult to see how any of them get built.

SAN DIEGO CITY COUNCIL DISTRICT 6

SORRENTO VALLEY • UNIVERSITY CITY • SCRIPPS RANCH

Hello neighbors,

Spring is here, and as we adjust to the time change, longer days, and – in my case – sometimes grumpy kids, I wanted to take a moment to recognize those observing this season's holidays. Whether it be Easter, Nowruz, Ramadan, or another special occasion, I extend my warmest wishes to you and your loved ones for a joyous and meaningful time.

At City Hall, spring also means that it's budget season. As chair of the City's Budget and Government Efficiency Committee, I'll be working to pass a balanced budget that includes priorities that are important to our communities in District 6 – like addressing housing affordability and homelessness, repairing roads, maintaining public safety, and improving our libraries and parks. Although the City is facing a significant budget deficit, I'll continue fighting on behalf of our communities to protect core services that matter to us and our families.

The mayor is expected to release his budget on April 12, and then the City Council will weigh in with its comments and changes. There will be several opportunities for you to provide input, including public hearings in May and a town hall I'll be hosting in the district on May 15th.

The City's Department of Transportation operations teams made significant upgrades to the intersection of Mira Mesa Boulevard and Reagan Road in Mira Mesa recently. The safety improvements included traffic signal replacement, traffic signal timing modifications, changes to crosswalks and stop limit lines, and pedestrian push-button installs. The work took place during evening hours due to the high volume of traffic at this busy intersection. This was a complex upgrade that will make this intersection safer for both vehicles and pedestrians.

Thank you to CRY San Diego for having us and hosting the annual Holi celebration, this vibrant event was the perfect way to welcome spring in San Diego.

Join us at the Creek-to-Bay Cleanup on April 20th at Mira Mesa Community Park or volunteer to clean up in other locations throughout the city in honor of Earth Day. To volunteer as part of the clean-up crew, sign-up at https://cleansd.org/creek-to-bay.

Stay safe, Councilmember Kent Lee
As always, if you have any concerns our office can help you with, please feel free to contact our office by emailing kenlee@sandiego.gov

Ginger Couvrette as "Woman of the Year" for Senate District 40

Scripps Ranch, CA – Senate Minority Leader Brian W. Jones (R-San Diego) has named Ginger Couvrette as the 2024 "Woman of the Year" and recognized 10 "Distinguished Women" of Senate District 40.

"Ginger's unwavering dedication to community betterment shines through in every endeavor," said Leader Jones. "From her pivotal roles in education and real estate to her extensive volunteer work and leadership positions, her contributions have truly transformed Poway. Congratulations to Ginger for her relentless commitment to making our community thrive."

Ginger Couvrette, "Woman of the Year for Senate District 40," is a dedicated community leader and 30-year resident in the City of Poway. She exemplifies a lifetime commitment to service and advocacy. She raised her family in Poway, and her volunteering matured as her kids grew. With a profound passion for her community, Ginger has served as a vital member of the Poway Unified School District Board, advocating tirelessly for initiatives such as career technology education, homeless student services, and dual college enrollment.

As co-founder of the non-profit Poway Community Foundation, she has played a pivotal role in fostering community cohesion and support. Beyond her professional achievements as CEO of Halcyon Real Estate, where she ranks among the top 1% of sales, Ginger extends her influence through her roles on various advisory boards, including the Government Advisor Board for the San Diego Association of Realtors. Her dedication to uplifting others is further demonstrated through her involvement with The Oasis Center on the Board of Directors and her coordination of the Chaparral Elementary Thanksgiving family meal program. With a rich history of leadership spanning organizations such as the Poway Sports Association and the Poway Parks & Recreation Committee, Ginger's commitment to enhancing the quality of life for residents shines through in every endeavor.

"Thank you to Senator Jones for this honor," said Ginger Couvrette. "To be surrounded by so many amazing ladies doing so many wonderful things for the community, I am humbled yet energized! I am happy to include all those committee members from our various community activities who help serve Poway and make it such a special place."

Leader Jones also recognized the following "Distinguished Women of Senate District 40":

Dr. Lynn Ceresino Neault: Chancellor of Grossmont-Cuyamaca Community College District

Sally Cox: CEO of the Foundation for Grossmont and Cuyamaca Colleges

Jill Fleming: Director of 678 Pageants, Lakeside, Ramona, and Julian

Jacqueline "Jackie" Heyneman: Save Our Forest, Fallbrook Scarecrow Days, "Perking up Pico" and 'Take a Seat" Fundraiser

Hon. Lara Hoefer Moir: Lakeside Union School District Board Member & Lakeside Chamber of Commerce

Eileen Kaufman: Rancho Bernardo Community & 4 Paws of Love

Susan Lancaster: Descanso Town Hall Association

Hon. Robin Maxson: Ramona Community Planning Group, Ramona Grant Steering Committee & San Diego County Association of Planning Groups

Yessenia Mendoza: Escondido Chamber Charitable Foundation & Escondido Chamber of Commerce

Coleen Owens: Lakeside Historical Society, Maine Ave. Revitalization Assoc. & Lakeside VFW Auxiliary

"In addition to our 'Woman of the Year,' we have many noteworthy and honorable women in Senate District 40," continued Leader Jones. "All these women help make our community thrive and they all deserve recognition."

Since 1987 the Legislative Women's Caucus has encouraged all legislators to recognize a special woman in their district each year in honor of "Women's History Month," which occurs in March.

SENATE MINORITY LEADER

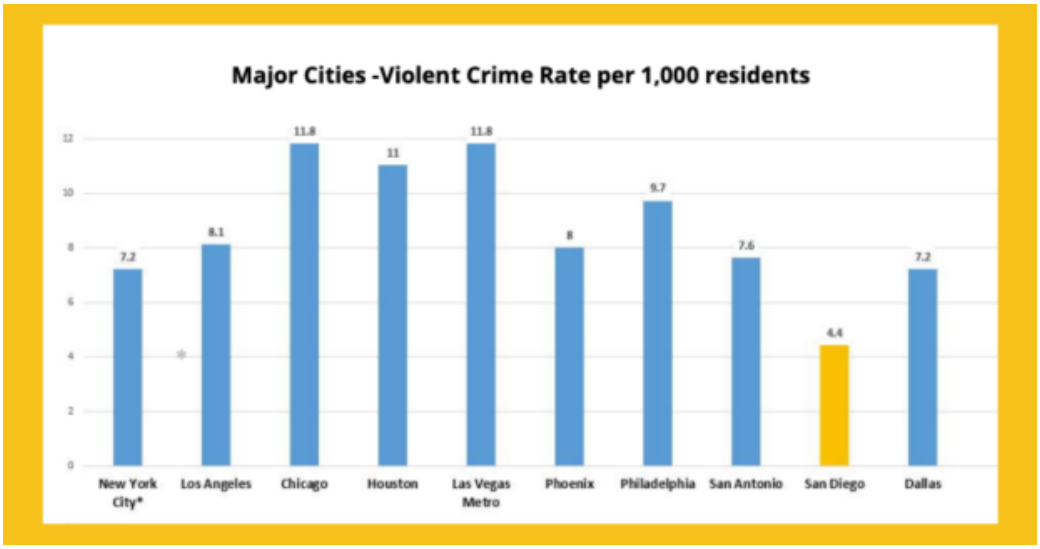
Dear Neighbor,



In the latest annual crime report, San Diego has once again proven to be one among one of the safest big cities in the country.

From 2022 to 2023, we saw an overall crime decrease of 2.7%. This is the second year in a row we've seen crime trending down since a spike during the pandemic.

This reflects the unwavering commitment of the San Diego Police Department to safeguard our communities. Thanks to the leadership of Police Chief David Nisleit and the dedication and proactive efforts of our police force, we've not only maintained, but bolstered our reputation for safety.

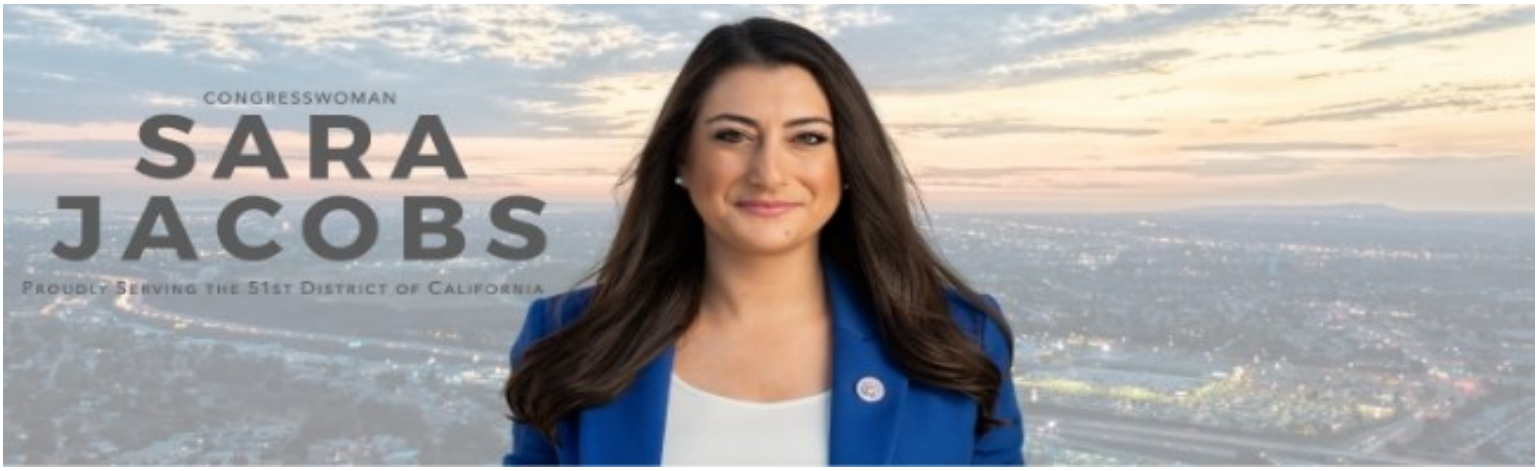
Significant strides have been made in reducing key crime rates, including a notable 13.5% drop in murders and a 16.2% decrease in sexual assaults. Non-fatal shootings have also declined by 12%, underscoring our effective approach to reducing violence across our city.

Our violent crime rate remains exceptionally low, ranking among the best of major cities nationwide.

There is still more work to be done. The increase in hate crime reports from 38 cases in 2022 to 66 in 2023 serves as a crucial reminder of the work still needed to address and eradicate intolerance and violence in our community.

As we celebrate our successes, SDPD and I remain committed to facing our challenges head-on, fostering a safer, more inclusive San Diego for all of us

As always, it's an honor to serve as your Mayor.



Too many families – especially in San Diego – can't find or afford child care that meets their needs. In San Diego, the average annual cost for child care for only one infant in a licensed center can be more than $19,000 – for two kids, it could cost more than $33,000! That's so far out of reach for most low- and middle-income families, and that's if you're lucky enough to find care in the first place. On top of that, providers who care for our kids often aren't earning enough to provide care for their own families. That's why I've been working hard in Washington, D.C. to change this.

Most recently, I voted to pass the second and final package of six appropriations bills to fund our government – which included a $1 billion increase for the Child Care and Development Block Grant (our country's primary child care program) and Head Start, which provides no-cost early learning for low-income families. All of this means that more families will be able to find high-quality child care and early learning options. Kids will get the tools they need to thrive and parents will have peace of mind knowing their children are safe so they can go back to work and focus on growing their careers.

While I'm excited about this funding increase, we're facing really big challenges in our child care sector – so this won't be enough. That's why I've been working for months to pass my Child Care Stabilization Act – which would restore pandemic-era child care funding passed through the American Rescue Plan. This funding kept our child care sector from completely collapsing during the pandemic, but it's still sorely needed. This funding would direct federal dollars into our child care sector and help provide care for about 3 million kids across the country, including 80,000 in California alone.

At the end of the day, as important as these bills are, small and temporary fixes to our child care system aren't cutting it anymore. We need to ensure every family can get the care they need by making BIG changes – and my Child Care for Every Community Act would do just that. My legislation would guarantee universal access to affordable, high-quality child care for every family in America by creating a federally-funded, locally-run network of child care providers. Based on a sliding scale, lower-income families would be fully subsidized, half of families would pay no more than $10 a day for child care, and all families would pay no more than 7% of their income. It would also pay all providers a living wage.

Every family deserves access to affordable, safe, high-quality child care. But if that doesn't convince you, investing in child care is also good for our economy. We save $6 for every $1 we invest in quality early childhood programs. By every metric, investing in child care is a good thing, and that's why I won't stop fighting for it.

The Mira Mesa Community Recreation Group

The Mira Mesa Community Recreation Group (known as the Mira Mesa Recreation Council in past years) meets on the second Tuesday of each month at 7 PM at the Lopez Ridge Park recreation center. All residents and anyone interested in Mira Mesa parks and recreation are welcome and encouraged to attend. See https://miramesarecreationcouncil.org for more information. If you wish to be added to the email list to receive agendas and minutes, contact Brian Vaira at BVaira@sandiego.gov.

Holding Corporate Polluters Accountable

For decades, the pollution in the Tijuana River Valley has impacted South Bay communities and is now impacting San Diego County's coastal communities to the north such as Coronado, Ocean Beach, Point Loma, Mission Beach, Pacific Beach, La Jolla, and Del Mar. While we work to tackle this crisis, we have to make sure this never happens again.

I asked Chairwoman Nora Vargas to join me in backing state legislation to hold corporate polluters in California accountable.

State Senator Steve Padilla's Senate Bill 1178 requires large corporations of more than 2,500 employees to publicly disclose their wastewater discharges and directs the State Water Resources Board Control Board to create a "California Water Quality and Public Health Impact Surcharge" that would help communities mitigate that contamination.

We need to hold large companies that discharge toxins into our waters accountable, and Senate Bill 1178 will protect California and San Diego County's environmental future. I appreciate Senator Padilla's leadership on this issue and stand ready to help him bring this legislation over the finish line.

National Stress Awareness Month

By Kaanchan S Farkiya

April is recognized as National Stress Awareness Month to bring attention to the negative impact of stress. Managing stress is an essential component of a healthy lifestyle. National Stress Awareness Month 2024, from April 1 until April 30, aims to highlight stressful experiences and raise stress management awareness. Several organizations supporting people struggling with stress or mental health challenges will also mark the event.

Stress Awareness Month is an important observance aimed at raising awareness about the prevalence, causes, and effects of stress on individuals' physical and mental health. Here are several reasons why Stress Awareness Month is important. Create a playful Stress Awareness Instagram post and more with this Pink Stress Awareness Month Instagram Post Template. You can easily customize the post template, including the bright color scheme, pattern, and images.

In addition, chronic stress can have detrimental effects on physical health, including cardiovascular problems, weakened immune systems, digestive issues, and more. By raising awareness, people can recognize the signs of stress and take steps to manage it effectively, thus reducing the risk of developing stress-related health problems. Stress can also have a significant impact on mental health, leading to anxiety, depression, burnout, and other mental health disorders. By increasing awareness, individuals can learn coping mechanisms and seek support when needed to maintain good mental well-being.

Stress can impair cognitive function, concentration, and decision-making abilities, which can negatively affect work performance, academic achievement, and overall productivity. By understanding stress triggers and learning stress management techniques, individuals can improve their performance and productivity.

Stress is a widespread issue that affects people of all ages and backgrounds. By highlighting the importance of stress management and seeking help when needed, Stress Awareness Month contributes to the overall public health agenda by reducing the burden of stress-related illnesses and promoting healthier communities. Stress Awareness Month encourages proactive measures to prevent stress from escalating into more serious health problems. By promoting stress-reduction strategies such as exercise, mindfulness, relaxation techniques, and seeking social support, individuals can build resilience and better cope with life's challenges. Increasing awareness about stress can help reduce the stigma associated with seeking help for mental health issues.
