Mira Mesa Community Planning Group

Mira Mesa Community Planning Group
By Jeff Stevens, Chair Mira Mesa Community Planning Group
Are you interested in the future of the Mira Mesa Community? Have you ever seen a new development appear and wonder where it came from? Have you noticed that we currently have three major park projects including a new swimming pool in progress? How did that happen?

The Mira Mesa Community Planning Group has the responsibility to review all development projects for consistency with the Mira Mesa Community Plan and actively works to make sure that we have the parks and other public facilities called for in the Community Plan. Planning new projects often starts years before a single shovel of dirt comes out of the earth. For example, planning the Stone Creek project which will eventually redevelop Vulcan's property in Carroll Canyon (currently used for gravel mining) has been in progress since 2006. That is an extreme case but planning periods of a few years for large projects are common.

Public facilities also take a long time from proposal to completion. Parks and other public facilities are identified in the Community Plan but cannot be built until funding is available. Sometimes this can be done as part of a development project, but more often it is the City's responsibility. Until 2022 developers paid into a fund, the Facilities Benefit Assessment (FBA), that was designed to build all of the public facilities in the Community Plan. It was a long wait for enough money to accumulate to build a project, but it did give some assurance that the money would eventually be there and as a result most of the public facilities in the 1992 Mira Mesa Community Plan have been built. The City's Parks Master Plan terminated the community specific FBA programs so now all developer fees go into a citywide pot, and we must rely on the City Council to provide us with the money we need for facilities.

Park planning can also take a long time even when money is finally available. The Planning Group identifies park sites, but the Mira Mesa Recreation Advisory Group works on park design and holds public workshops during the park design phase. The workshops that led to the design for the pool and other features currently under construction at Mira Mesa Community Park were held in 2020.

Members of the Mira Mesa Community Planning Group are rarely surprised to see a new development because they have likely seen it years in advance. If you would like to be a part of this process, please consider attending Mira Mesa Community Planning Group meetings. We currently have vacancies for a business members and a property owner member, but residential vacancies occur frequently and even if you are not a member you can still participate in the presentations and discussions at the meetings.

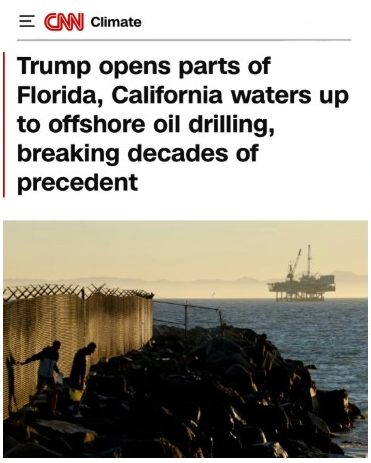
Dear Mira Mesa,

The Trump administration just announced it will open new offshore drilling off California for the first time in decades. They made this decision without holding a single public hearing. Coastal communities get no say, no answers, and no accountability from the people pushing to drill off our shoreline.



For San Diego, that's unacceptable. Our beaches support local families, small businesses, and a huge part of our regional economy. We've lived through spills before, and we know how much damage they cause.

Since the federal government won't face the public, community groups are stepping in. They're hosting a Community Hearing on Offshore Drilling, and I hope you can join local leaders, scientists, and residents in making your voice heard.

What: Community Hearing on Offshore Drilling, When: December 4 at 6:00 pm, Where: Encinitas Community Center

RSVP HERE

San Diego has spent years building a cleaner, safer, more resilient future. As Chair of San Diego Community Power, I see every day how quickly our region is moving toward clean energy and away from fossil fuels that put our health and coastline at risk. We are not going backward.

Trump can try to fast-track drilling, silence communities, and call climate change a "con job." But here, we organize, we participate, and we defend what we love: our beaches, our economy, and our future.

Hi Friend,

I just voted to require the Trump Administration to release the full Epstein files – and I'm so glad the bill passed the House of Representatives. Survivors deserve justice and the American people deserve the truth and accountability.

Let this moment be a reminder that Trump is NOT immune to public pressure. We, the people, have power.

I will keep fighting to hold anyone involved accountable for these crimes – no matter how wealthy or well-connected they are or what political party they belong to.

You can follow me on social media (@RepSaraJacobs) and subscribe to my newsletter to keep up with my work on your behalf.

Warmly,

Rep. Sara Jacobs
Member of Congress

Human Rights Day

By Kaanchan S Farkiya

We celebrate Human Rights Day on December 10th to commemorate the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) by the United Nations General Assembly in 1948. The day raises awareness about the importance of human rights and serves to celebrate and promote the fundamental freedoms and rights that every individual is entitled to, regardless of their background.

Here are some ways to celebrate Human Rights Day on December 10:

- Learn and Educate - Learn about the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and share with others.
- Advocate and Act - Support organizations working on human rights issues and take action on issues you care about.
- Community Events - Attend or organize events, discussions, or rallies promoting human rights.
- Social Media Campaigns - Use hashtags like #HumanRightsDay to raise awareness and share information.
- Reflect and Pledge - Reflect on your own role in promoting human rights and pledge to take action.

Some ideas for organizations to get involved:
- Host a Film Screening - Screen a documentary or film highlighting human rights issues.
- Panel Discussions - Organize panel discussions or webinars on human rights topics.
- Volunteer Opportunities - Offer volunteer opportunities with local organizations working on human rights.

It's a day to recognize the need for global equality, dignity, and justice, and to encourage progress in safeguarding human rights worldwide.
