Mira Mesa Town Council Meeting & Small Business Expo

Meet and greet an absolutely amazing group of Mira Mesa small businesses!

We are holding the August 2026 meeting at the Mira Mesa Senior Center, rather than the library, to have a larger room available for a special event that we will be doing from 6pm to 7pm, prior to a brief sit-down meeting from 7 to 7:30 pm, concluding with more time for visiting tables until 8 PM. The Mira Mesa Senior Center is located at 8460 Mira Mesa Blvd, San Diego, CA 92126.

Jennifer Kvalvik Appointed MMTC President

The Mira Mesa Town Council Board of Directors has appointed Jennifer Kvalvik as President of the Mira Mesa Town Council subject to confirmation by the membership at the August 3rd general meeting.

Message from Jennifer Kvalvik:

I have been on the Town Council for 20 plus years and have enjoyed being a part of an organization that helps make a difference in the climate of this immense community. I know that we can work together to make our neighbors feel that they can be a part of as well as get involved in the variety of projects, celebrations, and events we organize. I love this community as I have lived here for almost 40 years and taught at Mira Mesa High School for 28 years, recently retiring. I look forward to serving in this capacity knowing that Mira Mesa is a community of traditions and connections and I will continue to foster that philosophy.

I love this quote by Margaret Mead “Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; it’s the only thing that ever has” I encourage you to find your community connection.

I look forward to connecting with you.

Letter from Shane O'Garro

After considerable reflection, I have made the difficult decision to step down as President of the Mira Mesa Town Council due to personal reasons. Serving as a member of this council has been one of the greatest joys of my adult and professional life. Mira Mesa gave me more than an opportunity to lead — it gave me a community to serve, people to learn from, and a place where I could help turn residents' concerns into action.

I will always remember standing beside neighbors who felt that their voices were not being heard, including residents dealing with repeated disturbances that affected the safety and peace of their neighborhood. When one of those residents later shared that the situation had improved and thanked us for our support, it reminded me that local leadership is not about titles. It is about showing people that they are not alone. I am equally proud of the difficult but necessary conversations we held around homelessness, housing, public safety, neighborhood development, and economic opportunity. These issues do not come with simple answers, but the Town Council has always provided a place where residents, community leaders, public agencies, and local organizations can come together and work toward meaningful solutions. Having the honor of serving as the first Black President of the Mira Mesa Town Council is something I will carry with me for the rest of my life. That milestone was never mine alone. It represented every person who needed to see that leadership can come from any background and that every voice deserves a place at the table.

Jennifer, thank you for stepping forward during this transitional and pivotal time. Leadership is often revealed when circumstances require someone to stand up, and I am grateful that you have answered that call. I wish you and the entire Town Council tremendous success, wisdom, and prosperity under this new leadership. Although I must step away at this time, I do not consider this the end of my relationship with the Town Council. I sincerely look forward to the day when I may serve alongside you again. Until then, the Mira Mesa Town Council—and the community it represents—will remain in my heart. Thank you for trusting me, challenging me, and giving me the privilege of serving.

With gratitude, Shane O'Garro, President, Mira Mesa Town Council

San Diego City Council: Kent Lee

Hello Mira Mesa Neighbors,

I hope everyone is having a great summer and staying cool! Looking back over the last couple of months, I'm pleased to share that the City Council unanimously approved a final budget in June, one that restored funding for many core services that had faced cuts and better reflects what we value as a city.

I am especially proud that our final budget action fully reversed the proposed cuts at every library and recreation center in District 6 and in Mira Mesa, including Mira Mesa Gil Johnson Recreation Center, Hourglass Field Community Park and Field House, and Saturday hours at the Mira Mesa Library.

The Council's action also included significant restoration of funding for arts and culture, community festivals and programs, stormwater channel clearance, and emergency preparedness efforts identified by public safety officials, as well as other key restorations that strengthen neighborhoods across San Diego.

One meaningful restoration was funding for community programs and festivals — grants that have in the past supported MMTC, Mira Mesa Little League, Scripps Mesa Fireworks, and more!

Despite the fiscal challenge San Diego continues to face, we worked to identify solutions that protect many of the programs and services that residents told us matter most. We did not achieve everything everyone wanted, but together we delivered a budget that is far stronger than where this process began — and one that better reflects the values of the communities we serve.

As always, my family and staff enjoyed celebrating the Fourth in Mira Mesa with the fireworks and picnic at Hourglass Park on July 3rd, as well as the new Mira Mesa parade on July 4th. Thank you to the fantastic volunteers who made these events possible!

As always, if you have any concerns, don't hesitate to contact our office. Please reach out to our Mira Mesa Community Representative, Isabella Kalivas, at IKalivas@sandiego.gov.

Warm regards,
Council President Pro Tem Kent Lee

San Diego County Board of Supervisors: Terra Lawson-Remer

Dear Mira Mesa,

Some people spend summer catching up on great books, but my reading list has been a little different lately.

Between feedings, diapers, and sleepless nights with my newborn, I've found myself consuming a lot of fiction — not novels, unfortunately, but wild claims about the County of San Diego.

You may have seen them: screeds insisting that modernizing the County's reserves policy was reckless, that the freed-up funding all went to "bonuses," and that pretty much everything we do to wake up County government is secretly sinister.

Most of them are not very nice to me. That's okay. I'm used to catching attitude from my 6-year-old girl.

But efforts to undermine faith in local government affect all of us. So let's separate fact from fiction.

There are four main fictions floating around, but I am not going to make you read the whole library in one sitting.

Today is Part 1: the County reserves and budget.

Fiction 1: Reserve reform is "reckless."

Fact: Reserve reform fixed an outdated policy that was excessively hoarding money that should have been used to provide services to you, the public.

The County did not drain reserves. We did not use reserves to balance this year's budget. And we are still millions of dollars above the County's required emergency savings minimum.

Here is what changed:

San Diego County now follows best practices used by counties and cities across America, which say reserves should cover two months of regular operating costs — the bills we cannot skip in an emergency.

The County's old policy made unrealistic assumptions, like pretending major construction projects, like a new park, would continue even during a crisis.

If you lost your job, you wouldn't stick with your plan of building a pool in your backyard; you'd put that on hold and use your savings to pay bills and feed your family. Obviously, the County should also pause non-essential expenses in a time of financial strain.

But the old policy forced the County to hoard nearly $400 million more than a reasonable reserve minimum requires.

So we fixed all that:

- We kept the required safety cushion and put most of that above-minimum money into a separate bucket with strict spending safeguards.
- We made sure that the budget we just passed still adds more than $16 million above the required reserve minimum in our emergency fund.
- We installed guardrails to ensure that the free-up funding cannot all be spent at once: No more than 25% can be used in one year. (And after the first two years of allocations, nearly $191 million remains available for the final two years of Trump's presidency.)

As Vice Chair Montgomery Steppe said, the County is not a hedge fund. Our purpose is not to park taxpayer dollars in an investment account and pat ourselves on the back about having a bigger fund balance.

We are supposed to keep a responsible emergency cushion and use the rest of our public dollars to invest in core services and protect the public.

That is not reckless.

Reckless would be forcing money above the emergency cushion to sit untouched while Trump cuts health care, food assistance, housing, and other services San Diegans rely on.

Reckless would be letting the roof leak during a storm because you like bragging about your savings account.

Which brings us to the next fiction: what this freed-up funding actually supported.

Fiction 2: The freed-up funding went to "bonuses."

Fact: The one-time retention payment was just 3.7% of the total freed-up funding, and more than 92% of the money allocated so far has gone to County services and dealing with the fallout of Trump's massive H.R. 1 budget cuts.

If we want families to get help when they call, seniors to get services, roads to be maintained, public health threats to be addressed, and emergency response to work, we need good people to stay in public service.

Critics want to make this about a one-time $1,000 retention payment to County workers: sheriff's deputies, social workers, nurses, eligibility workers, public health staff, emergency responders, road crews, and others doing hard jobs in one of the most expensive regions in the country.

The full Board — Democrats and Republicans — approved these contracts. And I will never apologize for valuing the people who keep County government running.

But scale matters.

The workforce payment was $14.2 million — just 3.7% of $381.6 million in total freed-up funding.

And of the freed-up funding allocated so far, more than 92% has gone to services and urgent public needs.

So what have the former reserves funded so far?

- $43.7 million for safety-net services to protect health care, food assistance, and basic support for families as federal cuts hit our region.
- $34 million to build and acquire affordable housing.
- $28.8 million to respond to the Tijuana River Valley sewage crisis, including $8.8 million for pipe extension, health studies, and air-quality monitoring.
- $23.7 million to respond to Trump's H.R. 1 cuts and new red tape that could make people lose health care or food assistance.
- $23 million to keep critical County systems and infrastructure working.
- Nearly $13 million to help renters and vulnerable residents stay housed, such as $3.6 million for rental assistance.
- $4.8 million to help seniors, families, and people facing hunger, including $1.8 million for senior nutrition, $1 million for the San Diego Food Bank, $1 million for Feeding San Diego, and $1 million for food distribution and insecurity.
- $5.7 million to help vulnerable residents, including $2 million to help eligible seniors and people with disabilities get federal benefits, and $1.5 million for domestic violence services through Casa Mariposa.

That is the real story: reserve reform helped keep San Diegans housed, fed, safe, healthy, served, and protected while Washington creates chaos.

Salk/Maddox Park Nearing Completion

New shade structures have been installed at the Maddox Park play area.

The expanded Maddox dog park has separate areas for large and small dogs.

Monument sign is installed in the new Salk Park

Although almost two years late, the new Salk Park and upgraded Maddox Park are finally nearing completion. The expanded Maddox dog park, with separate areas for large and small dogs, appears to be finished, new shade structures have been placed over the Maddox play area, and new sod has been installed at Salk Park so the new field now has grass. Mira Mesa Community Planning Group Defines Infrastructure Priorities

By Jeff Stevens, Chair Mira Mesa Community Planning Group

Each year the City asks Planning Groups to define a list of infrastructure priorities. These are capital improvement projects, so do not include things like street maintenance, but may include construction of new streets. The Mira Mesa Community Planning Group made its recommendations for 2026 in June. All of them are derived from one of two sources: 1) the 2022 Mira Mesa Community Plan; 2) the Park and Recreation Department list of unfunded needs, which includes recommendations from the Mira Mesa Community Recreation Group. The full list of recommendations can be found at this link. Over the next several months, I will be describing some of these recommendations.

The first project on the list is the "missing link" in Carroll Canyon Road. This is a short segment of road, less than a mile long, between Camino Santa Fe and Carroll Road. Carroll Canyon Road currently runs from Camino Santa Fe to Camino Ruiz, and there are other sections between Black Mountain Road and I-15 and between the missing section and I-805. When Vulcan develops their Stone Creek project, they will build the section between Camino Ruiz and Black Mountain Road, leaving only this short section to complete the road between I-15 and I-805. Unfortunately, it is an expensive project. The City did a feasibility study about the road construction and determined an estimated cost of about $60 million. Completion of this section will likely require the City to apply for State or Federal grant money.

Mira Mesa Community Planning Group Vacancies

The Mira Mesa Community Planning Group currently has vacancies for one property owner member and one business member. If you are interested in filling one of these positions or recommending someone for one of the positions, please contact Planning Group Chair Jeff Stevens at mmcpg.chair@gmail.com. From the MMCPG bylaws "Property Owner member" is an individual identified as the sole or partial owner of record, or their designee, of a real property (either developed or undeveloped), within the community planning area, and who does not also qualify as a resident. A "Business member" is a local business person, who is a local business or not-for-profit owner, operator, or designee at a non-residential real property address in the community planning area.
